Ccb

I am a medical patient who wants to sell cannabis seeds to dispensaries, as novelty collectibles.

I have reached out to Nevada department of public health, medical marijuana division. Speaking with a supervisor I was told they see no regulatory issues with a medical patient wholesaling seeds to a dispensary.

What's even harder than penetrating your market as a local medical patient however. Is overcoming the trauma associated to your understanding of public service.

As the biggest players in your industry are currently under investigation for operating as cartel with national scale implications. It appears to me, the rational thing to do is walk away from this industry and pick up a new trade.

While I cant imagine what type of being would want a ccb license attributed to their name, I do want to sell seeds to dispensaries. And ill leave my email should anyone consider reaching out to get pricing information regarding seed purchasing for wholesale or commercial applications.
